Here is a thought from last week's homily: In order to make us more fruitful, the Father trims 80-90% of last year's growth. Think about how radical this is! The purpose of this trimming is not to make us miserable or to cause us to suffer. The Father prunes the branches so that we can be more fruitful.

Do you ever wonder what the world looks like through the eyes of another? I watched a man standing in the hall of a nursing home. He noticed that the plastic molding around the handrail was misadjusted. He fixed it! He slipped it into its proper place and then smacked it into the groove that would hold it in place. I was amazed that he noticed it, studied it and then fixed it.

This man noticed the structure of the hall. Another person may notice its decoration. Still another would be most attentive to the people in the hall. I was hungry, so I noticed the snack cart and wondered if they would notice one cookie missing...

On May 1, we celebrated the memorial of St. Joseph the Worker. This memorial was created by Pope Pius XII to highlight the dignity of the worker and remind us that work itself is a cooperation with God the Father who worked to create the world. St. Joseph the Worker reminds us that no matter what else we may notice, we must take note when the dignity of people is diminished and trampled upon. What we see broken, we must try to fix. We are to put forth our best effort to correct it. No person is without dignity, no worker can be utilized like a tool or a raw material, no work should be accomplished without first praising God the Father almighty.

Thank God for your work. Thank God for the work that supported your family. Thank God that you have eyes to see a portion of the glory of creation. One day when we are united to God in heaven, we will see the world in all its glory. That day will amaze us all.
