Here is a thought from last week's homily: When our lives are filled with jealousy unchecked, the jealousy leads to other sins.

When we have events like confirmation or funerals, many people work behind the scenes to make these days hospitable for families and guests and inspiring occasions of worship. I am grateful for you all!

Several weeks ago I attended the first Set Free Summit in Greensboro, North Carolina. Approximately 900 of us gathered to learn more about the effects of pornography on our culture and how it is robbing us, especially young people, of healthy sexual development. The use of pornography to the point of addiction diminishes a person's ability to grow in maturity or sustain a dating relationship and especially marriage.

It is important for us to understand that the actors and actresses that participate in the production of pornography are exploited. They are victims of sex trafficking. They are young men and women, and sometimes boys and girls, who have been sexually groomed, exploited and abused. They have been exposed to drugs and are often addicts. They have little or no freedom. From beginning to end, pornography uses and exploits people. It robs us of our purity and chastity. It is highly addictive and it ruins marriages and families. It is not harmless or victimless.

Men and woman of the parishes, I invite you to renounce pornography. The odds are that most adults have been exposed to pornography and about half have used it for personal gratification in the last month. We need to expel this demon from our lives and protect our young people from early use and addiction. We owe it to them!

Many dioceses right here in the United States do not have enough priests and trained lay ministers to serve their parishes. These dioceses are known as home missions. The Catholic Home Missions Appeal, which will take place this weekend in the second collection, supports these dioceses by funding essential ministries, including seminary education and lay ministry training. Please be generous in this appeal and share your resources to strengthen the Church at home.
