Matthew 16:13-20

“Who do you say that I am?”

Practically everyone who came into contact with Jesus realized that there was something special about him. Who was he? Could he be a reincarnation of someone for the Jews’ golden age of prophecy—maybe Jeremiah or Elijah (v14)? Or perhaps John the Baptist had escaped Herod’s prison despite all the rumors, If your own history and geography is the limit of your thinking, those were not unreasonable speculations.

However, Peter (or as he was known at the time Simon) had spent a great deal of time in the company of Jesus. Like anyone who devotes themselves to Jesus over a sustained period, he was beginning to see things from God’s point of view. To recognize Jesus as the Messiah was an extraordinary thing, To confess him as the Son of the Living God was beyond extraordinary (v16).

It was a transformative moment for Peter. Like Abraham before him, he received a new name he became known as “the rock” (Isaiah 51:1-2) and like Abraham his act of faith enabled a new starting point in God’s plan of salvation for all humankind.

“Look, I have set before you an open door, which no one is able to shut,” declared Jesus in a vision some decades later (revelation 3:8). It was open because the keys were in safe hands (v19). It’s still open. Come in out of the cold.

*Liturgy of the Hours: Week 1 of the Psalter
Reflection on the Gospel*

In response to Peter’s remarkable answer to Jesus’ question about his identity, Jesus gives him a new name and a new mission. This “rock” became both the foundation stone of Jesus’ community of disciples and ironically, later the unstable one who, on the night of Jesus’ passion, crumbled into shifting sand. We can identify with peter in our own weaknesses, But it will be his privilege, and the privilege of his successors in the Petrine ministry, to unlock the riches of the revelation of Jesus Christ entrusted to the church. —Living Liturgy, Twentieth-First Sunday in Ordinary Time 2023
