Reflection for Sundays Year A

1Thessalonian 2:9-13

"...God's word, Which is also at work in you believers" (v13)

If you're a beadmaker, you'll know that yeast has the most amazing properties. It looks rather odd, nondescript even- but as soon as it is mixed with sugar and warmed with water, it starts reacting, bubbling up- and once it's added to the flour, you can feel the difference. Suddenly the flour comes alive- because the yeast is a living organism.

The word of God works very much like yeast. It's alive with energy and power; it has effect. Paul writes of God's word, "which is also at work-energetai-in you believers" (v13) The life of God is activating in them, bubbling with creativity and bearing joy as its gift. And this divine word, closely identified with Jesus who is the Word, undergoes a similar process to that of yeast for the energy to be released. Paul employs the term "akoese" as a clue to this process- meaning hearing, obeying, taking in, admitting. The Thessalonians had to receive the word of the Gospel into themselves, to take it in- you could say, to give away, to surrender to it. The result is liftoff into life, with all its divine energy and fullness.

The same divine energy can be active, now deep down in us hidden in our own breathings, by faith, generating strength for today.

Most of us are generous when it's convenient for us. We are generous when we have the time or the money. But, real generosity is the opposite of that. It means giving of one's time, money, compassion, forgiveness or mercy when it's not convenient to us, when it's not on our schedule, but on the other person's timeline.

Liturgy of the Hours: Solemnity—We are obligated to consider the welfare of all people--especially those who live on the margins of society. In his ministry, Christ showed a special concern for the overlooked and ostracized members of society even when doing so threatened social norms. Do we hold our leaders to these standards of compassion or inclusion? While we strive to put our faith in Christ who is our ultimate leader and guide, we can also determine the legitimacy of our earthly leaders by noting how closely they follow the example of the Good Shepherd.— Living Liturgy, Christ the King 2023

Who is Jesus? | The Search | Episode 5

The most beautiful part of this story is this: we can know God's love, personally. This is the person of Jesus. But how did this seemingly insignificant carpenter born into poverty in a dusty corner of the Roman Empire become the most pivotal figure in all of history?
