Reflection on the Gospel

The invitation to change our ways is rarely appealing. Yet in today's readings, the Ninevites instantly repent at Jonah's preaching and the fishermen immediately leave their nets to follow Jesus. There is an urgency, and a totality of response is needed, In Ordinary Time, it may seem natural to settle into the ordinary ways we've been living out our discipleship. Instead, these Scriptures tell us that a new time presses upon us requiring different responses than before. There's nothing ordinary about the invitation to follow Jesus more radically.

“Follow me and I will make you fishers of men.”- Mark 1:17

Jesus' call to “follow me” is a call to all Christians! The call is in the here and now, in our present circumstances, not when we think we are “ready” or have everything in order. Good stewardship of our God-given gifts means that things aren't always going to go according to our schedule, but that God has a much better plan in store for each of us.

Father Hamness and the Sacred Heart Parish,

Sometimes God's presence is so apparent in our lives, and at other times we search to find Him. We depend on our faith always to feel God's contiguity. Sacred Heart displays this omnipotence of our Father in an undeniable presentation.

When I was given the opportunity to be the Music Director for this special congregation, I had no idea of the profundity of faith and devoutness that I would experience. You are a wonderful people, and you touched my heart with your kindnesses and your music. Working with Father David and Father Hamness has been a highlight for me in a very long church music career, and I extend to both of them a very grateful acknowledgement. I was actually with all of you a very short time, but you impacted my life more than words can express.

The sweet reception given for me after a mass some time ago is yet another example of the generosity of spirit at Sacred Heart. We're still in the area, and we continue to work out the perplexities of "retirement," so I hope to see you all from time to time. Thank you, Sacred Heart.

Third Sunday in Ordinary Time (B)

Jonah 3:1-5, 10 / 1 Corinthians 7:29-31 / Mark 1:14-20

FR. JOSEPH JUKNIALIS

Our lives are filled with calls of one kind or another. Phone calls, text messages, teachers who call on us in class, those who call us for supper, people behind a counter who call out, “Next!” And, sooner or later, death will call each of us.

Jonah was once called to go to Nineveh, and the people of Nineveh were called to repent and change their lives. Simon and Andrew, John and James were called to follow Jesus. And today God calls each of us, but it is never easy to sort out what it is we are called to do.

Saint Paul took pains to tell us that “the world in its present form is passing away” (1 Corinthians 7:31). That being true, then God’s call is always into a new way of life, which seems to imply leaving something behind, not unlike the four followers in Sunday’s Gospel leaving their fishing nets and their father Zebedee in his boat.

The world that is passing away may be childhood, or productivity as we age. The new world may require confronting addiction and leaving a life of what we thought we couldn’t live without. Or, like the people of Nineveh who were called to repent, it might be a call for our nation to confront our failure to engage in dialogue about and find solutions to injustice in its many forms at home and abroad. Who knows what God’s new world will be? ●
