“Teacher, do you not care that we are perishing?” (V38)

One of my favorite Woody Allen lines is this: “If you want to make God laugh, tell him your future plans.” The story of the stilling of the storm is hardly a barrel of laughs, but for anyone with faith, it ought at least to raise a wry smile. The disciples-not for the first time-find that their plans are about as stable as the sea that threatens to engulf them, and comforted by chaos, they quickly lose their faith. They even question the mindfulness and love of Jesus:”...do you not care that we are perishing?”

But all of this gives Jesus an opportunity to say two profound thing in the face of apparent annihilation: “Peace! Be still” and “Why are you afraid?” Sometimes we all find ourselves in the midst of what seem like great storms. We fear we will be engulfed. Even winds and waves are against us. Yet, we sometimes need to hear the words of Jesus that invite us out of fear and into peace. Sometimes what we need to do is reach out. Our salvation is nearer than we thought, it is within sight. Just not what we expected or thought.

The Scottish philosopher John Macmurray tells us that the maxim of illusory religion runs like this: Fear not; trust in God and her will see that none of the things you fear will happen to you". But that of real religion is quite contrary: Fear not; the things you are afraid of are quite likely to happen-but they are nothing to be afraid of. “Peace be with you”

“The he asked them, ‘Why are you terrified? Do you not yet have faith?’” – Mark 4:40

Do you really trust God? Is God your first choice or last resort? Is your faith something you just do on Sunday or do you live the Gospel message every day of the week? Many of us know about God. How many of us have a personal relationship with Him? Start now, open your heart to receive our Lord. Talk and listen to Him every day. Move your discipleship from head knowledge to heart knowledge.

Liturgy of the Hours: Week IV of the Psalter
Reflection on the Gospel

In the gospel, Jesus's questions point the disciples toward deeper understanding of the power of the Creator at work in himself and in them. It is a power that creates and recreates through patterns of death and rebirth. Jesus doesn't explain away the disciple's terror but redirects them toward the One who is the creative power at the center of the universe. He leads them through their fear, enabling them to cross over into awe at the One whose recreative power is manifest in Jesus's stilling of every storm.

Dear Padre

June 23, 2024

Do those who have died really remember us?

There are many clear indications in the Bible that the saints in heaven are aware of us and that there is interaction between those in heaven and people on earth. The most obvious passage is found in Hebrews 12:1: "Since we are surrounded by so great a cloud of witnesses (those in heaven), let us rid ourselves of every burden and sin that clings to us and persevere in running the race that lies before us." By their prayers, those in the "cloud of witnesses" help us finish the race.

Saint Paul wrote, "I consider that the sufferings of this present time are as nothing compared with the glory to be revealed for us" (Romans 8:18). We will "forget" the troubles we endured on earth, but we will be aware of the sufferings of those who are still on earth, and we will want to help them. Why? Because the greatest happiness, as Jesus said, is in giving (Acts 20:35).

The saints in heaven pray for us on earth; union with them brings us closer to Christ. We pray for those who are being purified after death, and they pray for us. We are one family. The closer our union with God, the closer our union with one another. We have a wonderful goal in life: the promise of union with God and with all those joined to God. ●
