Father's reflection is on the back page so it's easy to keep it and post it in a convenient place.

During Vocation Awareness Week, please pray that young people in today's culture will hear and respond to God's call. And do your part to encourage them to consider the priesthood and consecrated life!

Could Your Son Go To Seminary?

Many parents, when their son expresses an interest in the priesthood, will dispense well-meaning advice: "Get some life experience first—and at least a college degree—then think about seminary later." Some moms and dads even hope that with a nice girlfriend and a good job, the idea of priesthood will fade away. The problem is, they may be right! That's why it's crucial that when God moves the heart of a young man to explore the priesthood, parents should be supportive. True, in some cases an 18-year-old may not be mature enough to enter seminary right out of high school. But many are ready. And today's college seminaries are places of joy, camaraderie, and deep spiritual growth. Even if your son goes to college seminary and eventually discerns he is not called to priesthood, don't think he'll have to "make up for lost time." Thousands of former seminarians look back on their seminary days with great affection and gratitude!

The ideas are endless. The silent auction will be held the weekend of December 7th and 8th. Bring your donated basket anytime. They can be dropped off at the office or in the conference room.

Liturgy of the Hours: Week II of the Psalter

Reflection on the Gospel

The dialogue between the scribe and Jesus emphasizes that love does not consist so much in feelings, as in concrete loving deeds toward the other. This is how Jesus can speak about love as something that is commanded. One cannot be commanded to feel warmly toward another, but one can be mandated to treat another with loving kindness. A concrete way by which human beings can express love toward God is by extending that love toward fellow human beings.

“And ‘to love him with all your heart, with all your understanding, with all your strength, and to love your neighbor as yourself’ is worth more than all the burnt offerings and sacrifices.” (MARK 12:33)

Of all the gifts that God gives us, the one He wants the most is our heart. He wants us to share out of our love for Him, not out of obligation. Using our talent in parish ministry and contributing money to support our parish mission is important, but it's more important to spend time in prayer with God daily and discern how He is calling us to be generous with all of our gifts. Not just the visible ones, but the invisible ones like love, mercy and forgiveness

Father Hammess reflection for the week.

We have just observed All Souls Day, but we generally continue to pray for the Faithful Departed throughout this month. Here is a prayer that I have adapted for your private use. It is taken from among the prayers a priest says at the bedside of one who is dying.

COMMENDATION OF SOMEONE WHO HAS DIED

I commend you, dear Brother (Sister), to the almighty God, and consign you to the care of Him, whose creature you are, that, when you shall have paid the debt of all mankind by death, you may return to thy Maker, who formed you from the dust of the earth. [Since your soul has departed from your body,] may the resplendent multitude of the angels meet you: may the court of the apostles receive you: may the triumphant army of glorious martyrs come out to welcome you: may the splendid company of confessors clad in their white robes encompass you: may the choir of joyful virgins receive you: and may you meet with a blessed repose in the bosom of the patriarchs. May St. Joseph, the most sweet Patron of the dying, comfort you with a great hope. May Mary, the holy Mother of God, lovingly cast upon you her eyes of mercy. May Jesus Christ appear to you with a mild and joyful countenance and appoint you a place among those who are to stand before Him forever. May you be a stranger to all that is punished with darkness, chastised with flames, and condemned to torments. May the most wicked enemy, with all his evil spirits, be forced to give way: may he tremble at your approach in the company of angels, and with confusion fly away into the vast chaos of eternal night. Let God arise and His enemies be dispersed and let them that hate Him fly before His Face, let them vanish like smoke; and as wax that melts before the fire, so let sinners perish in the sight of God; but may the just rejoice and be happy in His presence. May then all the legions of Hell be confounded and put to shame; and may none of the ministers of Satan dare to stop you in your way. May Christ deliver you from torments, who was crucified for you. May He deliver you from eternal death, who vouchsafed to die for you. May Jesus Christ the Son of the living God place you in the ever-verdant lawns of His Paradise; and may He, the true Shepherd, acknowledge you for one of His flock. May He absolve you from all your sins and place you at His right hand in the midst of His elect. May you see your Redeemer face to face, and standing always in His presence, behold with happy eyes the most clear Truth. And may you be placed among the company of the blessed and enjoy the sweetness of the contemplation of your God for ever. Amen.
